GRANT SYSTEM

Urban LandMark makes a limited number of small, conditional grants available during each financial year. This funding is typically for research projects, support activities, knowledge dissemination or other initiatives which:

- will cost up to R150,000 (including VAT)
- align with the mandate of Urban LandMark, and build on the current body of knowledge and practice
- are short term but catalytic in nature
- yield a product which we are able to use to promote access to urban land and markets by the poor.

Proposals are therefore invited which state clearly the objective, the activities, the people and/or organisations involved (including CVs and organisational profiles), and a budget breakdown. Terms and conditions apply in the granting of this funding. It is subject to the approval of an assessment panel and availability of funds in each financial year. This current call ends on 30 November 2012.
